Several GCHS students were accepted into the 2012 Governor's Scholars program, including Kristin Warren, Sarah Kellam (declined invite due to schedule conflict), Kayla Keith, Ivory McGuire and Amy MacAdams (alternate.)

WRITE ON!

Grant County, Williamstown students chosen for Governor's Scholars Program

Most high school students don't want to think about spending their summer sitting inside a classroom, but for several seniors at Grant County and Williamstown high schools, that's exactly where they will be for five weeks this summer as a select few chosen for the Governor's Scholars program.

Governor's Scholars was established in 1983 and provides incoming high school seniors with an opportunity for academic exploration and personal growth on a college campus.

The program is free, but students must apply and then be nominated by their school district. Governor's Scholars usually receive scholarships, following graduation from high school, to in-state colleges and universities.

The first Governor's Scholars class had 230 participants. This year's class has more than 1,000. The 2012 Governor's Scholars program is being held on the campuses of Bellarmine and Murray State universities and Centre College. For more information about the program, go to gsp.ky.gov.

Williamstown High School students Christopher Brann (alternate), Morgan Potter and Alec Dalton will be studying this summer as part of the Governor's Scholar program.

Williamstown named 18th best high school in state

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

Williamstown High School is in elite company after being recognized as the 18th best high school in the state by a national publication.

U.S. News evaluated nearly 22,000 public high schools in 49 states and the District of Columbia. Schools were awarded gold, silver or bronze medals based on state proficiency standards, how well they prepare students for college, and other factors primarily for the 2009-10 school year.

Nationally, only 2 percent were awarded gold, 7 percent awarded silver and 13 percent bronze. Seventy-eight percent of the evaluated schools did not receive medals.

Among the U.S. News Best High Schools in Kentucky in 2012, there are five gold medal schools, 13 silver medal schools and 40 bronze medal schools.

Williamstown High School, which ranked 1,940 nationally, was given a silver medal.

This is the second time the high school has been recognized by U.S. News.

DID YOU KNOW?

- WHS has earned a silver medal from U.S. News. This is the second time the school has been recognized.
- GCHS earned a bronze medal this year.

A couple years ago, WHS received a bronze medal rating.

Grant County High School, which has more than twice the enrollment, was recognized with a bronze medal this year.

"These kind of things help validate that the things you are doing are moving you in the right direction," said Williamstown Independent Superintendent Sally Skinner. "It's putting you in an elite group of high schools. Only 18 across the state were ranked nationally and we were one of those 18."

KSP look into jail complaint

Chief deputy placed on administrative leave

By Jamie Baker-Nantz
Editor

The chief deputy at the Grant County Detention Center is currently on paid administrative leave after an investigation into allegations of inappropriate conduct.

Dennis Bailey, chief deputy, was placed on leave on May 25.

Jailer Terry Peeples confirmed on Monday that Bailey was on leave until the Kentucky State Police finish an investigation into allegations of inappropriate conduct.

Peeples said complaints at the detention center from inmates are common and range from scratchy toilet paper and food not being seasoned to more serious allegations such as inappropriate conduct by staff and even civil rights violations.

"Every accusation that is made is given a high priority," Peeples said. "And it's a daily occurrence for people to complain."

Peeples said two of the deputies at the facility on Barnes Road in Williamstown are responsible for following up on complaints.

Peeples said he received information about a complaint involving Bailey on Friday, May 25.

Peeples said he was made aware late in the day about a complaint. Because the following Monday, May 28 was the Memorial Day holiday, Peeples said he opted to call Joe Taylor, the county attorney, and seek advice.

"I didn't want to wait until Tuesday or Wednesday of that next week to see a report on the accusations," Peeples said.

Taylor, according to Peeples, advised him to contact the KSP to begin an investigation. Peeples then placed Bailey on leave pending the outcome of the investigation.

Complaint brings changes to Grant jail

By Jamie Baker-Nantz
Editor

Operational changes have occurred at the Grant County Detention Center following a complaint against the facility's chief deputy.

Dennis Bailey, chief deputy at the jail since January 2011, is currently on paid administrative leave pending the outcome of a KSP investigation.

Peeples said the investigation, even though it is not concluded, has prompted some changes at the facility.

"The investigation did reveal some issues," Peeples said.

Those changes include closing of the canteen or inmate store, which allowed inmates to purchase items such as snacks, candy bars and Cappuccino.

Peeples said the original intent of the canteen was to be used as a behavioral tool to control inmates but it had become an accounting nightmare for auditors.

"It created problems all the way around, especially for the auditors and there was the possibility of theft," Peeples said.

It (the canteen) created problems all the way around, especially for the auditors and there was the possibility of theft.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Doc Scroggins, Amazing Jane

(Editor’s Note: This column was first published April 23, 2009. It is being re-printed in memory of Jane Scroggins, who died June 9, 2012. Her obituary can be found on page 7 of this issue.)

“I plain wanted to be a country doctor and I never regretted the choice,” Doc Scroggins said. But, the truth is, though he was a country doctor, his influence stretched throughout the United States and flowed into Europe, Asia and anywhere else that there was wildlife and farmland.

Doc Scroggins’ medical career had him mending the aches and ills of Grant County for half a century. He was president of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, president of the National Charlois Association and president of the National Wildlife Federation.

Jane, widow of Doc Scroggins, flipped through page after page of newspaper clippings and photos of Doc, from the Grant County News, westward to Honolulu and into Eastern Europe, Great Britton and Charolais and wildlife communities in every hollow and valley and mountain top in between, and they loved him everywhere.

About once a week I open a closet at my house and stare at the self-tying bowties and assorted neckties that once hung loosely around Doc’s neck. The ties were something he wanted me to have. Everyone wanted Doc’s attention and he tried to oblige.

A June 2, 1980, Honolulu Advertiser newspaper story, with large photo, began, “Dr. Fred Scroggins, a good old boy from the farm town of Dry Ridge, Kentucky, answers his hotel room phone with a drawl that doesn’t seem out of place in Waikiki. “

Jane said that Doc made a speech every week somewhere in the United States while president of the two million members National Wildlife Federation from 1978 through 1981.

Doc liked to tell me stories about when he and Jane represented the National Charolais Association in Eastern Europe and the Soviet countries. The stories were salt and peppered with vivid imagery of a unique foreign farming society and Doc’s humorous view of his adventures among the people.

After going to medical school Doc went to New York City to be a surgeon and did not like it. He returned home to Dry Ridge to take care of his people, to hunt, to fish, and to tramp around the hillsides with his animals.

“On one hunting trip, in 1942, my companion shot me in the #%&!,” said Doc. Doc was well known for his bawdy humor. “I think it was an accident,” he said.

At the Cincinnati General Hospital, now University Hospital at the University of Cincinnati, Doc met a student nurse; our amazing Jane.

“In those days a nurse wasn’t allowed to attend to a male patient below the belly button,” Jane said. “This guy kept saying, ‘but I’ve been shot in the #%&! and it needs attention.’”

They were married Sept. 16, 1943, and Jane was Doc’s straight man for thousands of jokes and gags in thousands of speeches and presentations for decades to come.

Doc could get away with bawdy stories and borderline jokes whether he was addressing the Queen of England, the premier of France, the President of the United States or the Grant County Chamber of Commerce Banquet. As I thumbed through a scrapbook I noticed photos of Doc with Indera Gandhi at a cocktail party. I’m sure Doc told her a cow joke.

Doc grew up on his dad’s 600 acres farm in Mason, just south of Williamstown. He owned the land until his death. Jane showed me hundreds of photos of Doc with various dogs, his favorite being Sissy, walking the farm. During the railroad passenger years, Doc was the doctor for the railroad in Grant County.

Doc Scroggins was born January 14, 1916. He was an excellent student and ballplayer and graduate of Mason High School. He attended the University of Kentucky and received his medical degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1941. From 1942 – 1946 he was a flight surgeon for the Eighth Air Force, 505 Fighter Squadron 337 Fighter Squad, of which he was president of the association in 1995.

Doc was instrumental in getting the hospital in Grant County. Doc and Jane had three children. Ann was two years old when Doc came home from the war. “Our contact, for two years, was almost nothing,” Jane said. “We wrote each other letters every day. When I got his letters they were quite old.”

Jane said that Doc, as an officer, censored letters of the enlisted men but his letters to her came through unchanged. She often knew of the pilots that were shot down before the pilot’s family knew. James Starnes, pilot for the 505 Flight Squadron remembers Captain Fred (Doc) Scroggins. “In my opinion there was no World War II outfit as fortunate as the 505th. We were blessed with the good fortune of having Doc Scroggins as our medical officer and flight surgeon. Dr. Scroggins served us well in the desert and throughout the war. Like the time we were boarding our ship in New York to go overseas. A distraught enlisted man had climbed the rigging and was delaying our departure. Doc persuaded the man to climb down the ship’s rigging.”

“While on runway alert,” said Starnes, “Doc helped save a pilot from his burning P-51. Doc was awarded the Soldier’s Medal for that.”

Indeed, as the story goes, the plane burst into flames and somehow Doc Scroggins avoided getting burned as he rescued the pilot. General Woodbury presented the metal to him and the photo is one of many in Jane’s scrapbooks.

Doc Scroggins died in December 2000. I had been on vacation in Europe at the time and was saddened that I missed saying farewell.

Jane is active in the community and can often be seen at various functions. She said she moved around a lot with her family. She attended two elementary schools and three high schools. Her father was religious but as they moved around they had to attend lots of different denominations of churches. She remembers five.

Jane was born near Bowling Green, Ohio; let’s just say 39 years ago. She remembers seeing Herbert Hoover’s wife on the back of a private train car, which seems a near impossible thing to do if she’s only 39 years old. She said about Doc, “He told me he was only going to ask me once, to marry him, so I did. I kind of felt sorry for him... him having been shot in the #%&!.”

DOWN AND DIRTY

Furry pets in the garden, barriers best bet

If you have a garden chances are you appreciate nature in all its glory. But, sometimes nature gets in the way of our desires to cultivate. Deer browsing, rabbit munching, squirrel digging, bird pecking, mole trenching and resident vole feasting have all come up in the last two weeks. While I have no silver bullet for any of these problems I do have some practical approaches to offset the shared use of four gardens. Squirrels are notorious for taking one bite of a tomato and then throwing it on the ground. In some cases providing a water source will temper this behavior; if it doesn't a barrier is the most assured prevention. Wrap your tomato cages with chicken wire to prevent access, leaving a section that can be easily opened by you for harvest. Providing a water source for the birds will also help deter them from pecking your ripe tomatoes. I have used shade cloth similarly to keep birds from pecking tomatoes, just wrap the lower parts of the cages up to about waist height.

Oh, those pesky wabbits

The most frustrating thing about rabbits in your perennial garden is that they don't seem to eat what they destroy. They cleanly slice off the stems of flowers, leaving the remains where they fall. What's the point? The old remedies like sprinkling baby powder or blood meal around your plants seems to work but you have to reapply after rain and heavy dew. Hot pepper wax spray deters anything with an excellent sense of smell. I have rabbits about this year and they nibbled my young pole beans the other night. I wrapped chicken wire around the bed and so far so good. Decoy crops like soybeans and red clover, favorites of rabbits, can deter them from eating your favorite garden crops. But, really, the best and most practical defense here is to create a barrier.

Jeneen WICHE

Weekend Gardener

The question of field mice and vole damage has come up a bit lately and I think part of the problem is that people mulch to thickly and they pile mulch around the base of trees. This creates a cozy environment for mice during the winter, with a food source right in house. This time of the year voles and mice will feed on other plant parts which is a little harder to deter. I rely on two healthy, active cats and at least one adult snake that I see around the house from time to time to keep the mice population in check.

Purty purty garden

Deer browsing is a tough one to break. I have an eight foot fence around my vegetable garden but everything else is fair game. They are not supposed to like prickly plants, plants with aromatic foliage like Russian sage, the true sages, catmint, and caryopteris, for example, are not favorites. Deterrent spray products work unless the deer pressure is strong some research suggests, too, that using fish emulsion fertilizer deters browsing, especially in the vegetable garden. Stringing fishing line about chest high and ankle high around the vegetable garden can deter them from entering, as well. Here's one approach that sounds promising: ammonia. Poke holes every five feet along the tunnel and pour about a half a cup of ammonia in each and cover. Avoid mashing down the tunnel because you want the trapped fumes to permeate the entire mole run to chase the moles away. Castor oil based mole deterrent products will deter moles unless the environment is particularly inviting. They love earth worms so the better your soil the better your chances of having a mole problem. Grubs can sustain a healthy mole population but that is not always the problem so be mindful of using grub control products, use them only if you truly have a grub problem which can be determined by slicing up some turf in stressed areas. If you do have a problem with grubs and moles, look on the bright side...at least the moles are ridding your lawn of grubs.

Sick of politics? There is good news!

Are n't you sick and tired of politics these days? I think most of us are. I believe the political environment in our country has been contaminated with greed, selfishness and a "win-at-all-costs" mentality. Thus, we have to put up with a toxic mess of hate speak, condemnation and a disregard for the truth, as we all try to get to know candidates and understand their positions on the issues of the day.

For instance, it's not enough to prefer the policies of President Obama or Mitt Romney over the other – in today's political environment we have to create real hatred and animosity for the other. Countless lies and distortions are created about each of them -- and some we begin to believe!

Truth be told, President Obama and Mitt Romney are both devoted men of faith, exemplary husbands and fathers, and

Pastor's Corner

Bob
SILVANIK

worthy of being President of the United States. They are good men of high character and impressive credentials. They do, however, differ significantly on some important issues. And isn't it enough that we focus on those policy differences without spilling the toxic waste of politics all over them?

I think Christians should be the ones to stand up and demand an end to "politics as usual." After all, Jesus was the one who taught us to love each other as He first loved us. He taught us to not just love the ones like us, and the ones we like, but also those that are "strange" to us, and those that are "enemies" to us. Maybe we should start the "Good News Party" and stand up to the ways of the political world and say, "We've got Good News – from Jesus Christ – and were sick and tired of your ways. Even in our differences, let us learn to love one another, respect each other, and protect each one's dignity. "

Please let me know if you find a candidate willing to run on those Christian values.

CHURCH NOTES

Christ Community

- Call 859-394-2586 for more information about Vacation Bible School.
- June 10 - Harold Gambrell delivered an excellent message about how the Israelites went around the mountain for almost 40 years. The solution to a rut is to focus on Christ Jesus through worship and prayer and ask God for help along with searching the Word.

Corinth Christian

- The story of Jacob's family reads like a modern day soap opera. Jacob loved Joseph more than any of his other sons. This caused a sibling rivalry. We need to teach our children that we love them unconditionally. This teaches children that they need to love others. Encouraging words, acts of service, gift giving, spending of quality time and physical touch are all ways of expressing love.
- Aug. 5 – Aug. 10 – Revival with Rev. Kent Alexander preaching at each service.

Corinth Community

- June 16 – Free clothing and lunch from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Dry Ridge Baptist

- June 17 - Jack Wilson, will be preaching in both morning worship services. There will be no evening services.
- June 19 - The Day Baptist Women will meet at 11a.m.
- June 21 - Young at Heart will be going to Stearns, Ky at 7:30 a.m.
- June 24 – Monthly Deacon's meeting at 5 p.m.
- June 24 - Family night at 6 p.m.
- June 25 – June 29 - Youth mission trip

Dry Ridge Presbyterian

- Elder on call is Donna Miles 859-824-5622
- Summer Sundays Sermon Series at 11 a.m.
- June 17 – Peter, The Outspoken Disciple
- June 24 – John, The Beloved Disciple
- Aug. 19 - Founders Day Worship at 11 a.m., Pot luck lunch at noon, organ concert and hymn sing at 2 p.m.

First Love Community

- First Love will be building a church on the 25 acres they purchased several years ago on Boltz Lake.
- At this time we would ask if all churches would support us in prayer as we go forward in what we believe to be God's will for us.

God's Community

- June 18 - The youth will be leaving for Springfield, Ohio for Central Ohio Pentecostal Youth Camp and returning on June 22. If you have any questions, email Crystal Vanover at cvanover1981@ymail.com.

Harvest Apostolic

- Harvest Apostolic had Evangelist Jonathan Atkins and his family this week for Revival.

Our walk with God is one that has more hallways in it than open doors. If you are waiting to praise God when the door opens, you just might be waiting awhile. Why not praise Him in the hallway, praise Him during your wait.

Lystra Church of Christ

- Bro. Josh Grooms' message was from Acts Chapter 13 regarding Paul's preaching of the gospel to Sergius Paulus, a non-believer who was convinced by Paul's message and the miracle he performed. All Christians can be preachers when they proclaim the word of God to people who have not previously heard it.
- Sundays - Sunday School 10 a.m. - Morning Worship 11 a.m.

Mt. Carmel Baptist

- June 16 - Baby Shower

VERSE OF THE WEEK:

Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Have kindly affection one for another with brotherly love, in honor preferring one another not slothful in business; fervent in spirit, serving the Lord.

Romans 12: 9-11 (KJV)

- Go to www.vinerun.org for upcoming events.

Williamstown Baptist

- June 17 – Father's Day. We hope all our dads will be present for Sunday School and worship with their families. Your presence will honor our Heavenly Father.
- Bible School had 217 people enrolled with an average attendance of 206. There were 300 in attendance for a day of worship at Grant County Park on June 10.

Williamstown Christian

- At the Sunday morning worship services Senior Minister Gary Swick preached from the book of Numbers, Chapter 6 in "The Story," the wanderings as the Israelites traveled to the Promised Land. The space between where you are and where you want to be can be difficult. How do you live in this space? God is more concerned with who you are becoming than where you are going.
- June 21 - Senior Saints will travel to Bardstown to the Old Kentucky Dinner Train.

Williamstown United Methodist

- June 15 - Men's Softball Game at 7:45 p.m. at Crittenden Baptist.

NOTEWORTHY:

Dean's List

Cumberland College - Rual Maya

University of the Cumberland's recently announced that Raul Maya of Dry Ridge was named to the Dean's List for the 2012 spring semester.

To be eligible students must have achieved a grade of "P" in convocation while maintaining a minimum cumulative scholastic standing of 3.50.

University of the Cumberlands is an institution of regional distinction, which currently offers four undergraduate degrees in more than 40 major fields of study; nine pre-professional programs; seven graduate degrees, including a doctorate and six master's degrees; certifications in education; and online programs.

Campbellsville Univ. - Rebecca Lynn Hutchison

Rebecca Lynn Hutchinson, senior of Dry Ridge, has been named to Campbellsville University's Dean's List for the spring 2012 semester.

The academic honors' list recognizes students who achieve a grade point average of 3.50 or above for the semester with a course load of at least 12 hours. The spring 2012 academic honors' list includes a total of 460 students, with 272 named to the Dean's List for achieving a grade point average of 3.5-3.99.

Campbellsville University is a widely acclaimed Kentucky-based Christian university with more than 3,500 students offering 63 undergraduate options, 17 master's degrees, five postgraduate areas and eight pre-professional programs.

Berea College - Adrian Lebo

Adrian Lebo, of Williamstown has been named to the spring 2012 Dean's List at Berea College. A student is named to the Dean's List who achieves a GPA of 3.2 or higher for a minimum course load equivalent to 16 semester hours.

Berea College, located in Berea, is a non-denominational, comprehensive college that offers Bachelor's degrees in 32 majors, including arts and sciences and select professional programs, as well as independent majors designed by students to mirror approved majors at other colleges. Every student receives a tuition scholarship for cost of education and works at least 10 hours a week to pay for living expenses.

Transylvania University - Travis Powell

Travis Powell, a Saint Henry District High School graduate and Transylvania University sophomore has been named to the Dean's List for the 2012 winter term. To be named to the Dean's List, a student must achieve at least a 3.5 grade point average during the term.

Powell, a physics and mathematics double major, is the son of Gregory and Nancy Powell of Crittenden.

Transylvania, founded in 1780, is the nation's sixteenth oldest institution of higher learning and is consistently ranked in national publications as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

Gateway - Tyler Wilson named student of the year

Gateway Community and Technical College recognized more than 200 students for outstanding academic, leadership or technical performance at its annual Night of Excellence awards convocation held at Notre Dame Academy in Park Hills.

Tyler Wilson of Dry Ridge received a Collision Repair Technology Student of the Year award. The Gateway to Justice club, which raises awareness about domestic violence, human trafficking and other social justice issues, was recognized as student organization of year.

Berea College - Eric Moore receives bachelor of arts degree

Eric R. Moore of Dry Ridge, received his Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in education studies from Berea College. Parker J. Palm, internationally renowned writer, teacher and social activist, addressed 235 candidates for graduation at Berea College's 140th commencement ceremony. During the ceremony, Moore received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letter from Berea College.

Berea College is a non-denominational, comprehensive college that offers Bachelor's degrees in 32 majors, including arts and sciences and select professional programs, as well as independent majors designed by students to mirror approved majors at other colleges. Every student receives a tuition scholarship for cost of education and works at least 10 hours a week to pay for living expenses.

2012 GOVERNOR'S SCHOLARS

Grant County High School

Name: Kayla Keith
Residence: Dry Ridge
Parents: Debbie Rogers and Robert Keith

Future plans: To attend college at Xavier University. I plan to major in accounting with a minor in business and finance. I plan to get my license to be a CPA with hopes of working for P&G, as well as having my own small business on the side.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? I am looking forward to meeting new people. I am excited to be in an environment where I don't know anyone and have to make new friends. I also am excited to get to take classes that interest me rather than classes that I am required to take.

Name: Ivory McGuire
Residence: Corinth
Parents: Jennifer and Ken McGuire

Future plans: I don't have any definite plans yet other than college. I have a few areas of interest such as law, Spanish and journalism that I hope to expand on when I attend college, and hopefully from there I will be able to make more concrete plans.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? I'm really looking forward to meeting new people from all over the state of Kentucky and also to be able to get a glimpse of what college life would be like.

Name: Kristin Warren
Residence: Dry Ridge
Parents: Shannon Warren and Michael Caldwell

Future plans: Live in Georgetown while attending University of Kentucky. Once I graduate, I will move back to Grant County and work at Children's Hospital.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? Learning new things from each other students and just being in the environment with everyone else excited to be there. I'm excited for all of the opportunities I will have while I am there and bringing back home everything I learned.

Name: Amy MacAdams (alternate)
Residence: Corinth
Parents: Stephanie and Douglas MacAdams

Future plans: I plan to go to college at possibly Eastern Kentucky University, then go to the University of Kentucky to get a master's degree. I want to go into microbial studies, but it's not for sure.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? I don't know if I'm looking forward to it, but I think it will be a good experience to be away from everyone I know so I have that experience with being completely independent when I actually do go to college.

Williamstown High School

Name: Susan Northcutt
Parents: Leslie Neace and Ron Northcutt

Where attended GSP: Centre College in Danville

Focus of study: Creative writing/literary studies

Future plans: Attend Centre College, majoring in Biology in hopes to become a forensic scientist or a pharmaceutical engineer.

What did you learn from your experience at GSP: I learned how to build a strong foundation with people and how to be accepting and open to new ideas, perspectives and ways of learning. I also learned how to access my creativity and focus it into one piece of work and how to make something original.

Name: Morgan Potter
Residence: Williamstown
Parents: Ben Potter and Michelle Kruse

Future plans: I'm hoping to attend college at the University of Louisville and major in either high school education or psychology.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? I am most looking forward to going out and meeting new people who are different than myself and who come from different backgrounds.

Name: Alec Dalton
Residence: Dry Ridge
Parents: Sonya and Brian Linder/Greg and April Dalton

Future plans: I am currently planning on studying in the field of psychology and minor in music. The colleges I am looking into are Cincinnati Christian University and the University of Kentucky.

What are you most looking forward to from your experience at GSP? Everyone I've talked to has said they love the college feel and the relationships they build while there. I can't wait to experience what the buzz is all about.

Name: Christopher Brann (alternate)
Residence: Williamstown
Parents: David and Paula Brann
Future plans: Attend ECU

GCMS students recognized by WKU for Duke Talent Program

The group of about 400 students that congregated at Western Kentucky University recently had three things in common, their college-ready ACT or SAT scores, their seventh-grade standing in school and the incredible potential that combination creates. The following accomplished middle schoolers visited WKU to attend the Kentucky Recognition Ceremony for the Duke Talent Identification Program hosted by The Center for Gifted Studies.

- Alexis Brock of Corinth
- Reese Danzer of Crittenden
- Collin Davis of Williamstown
- Levi Fox of Dry Ridge
- Stephanie Kinmon of Dry Ridge
- Mikinley Lustenberg of Corinth
- Aaliyah Martin of Dry Ridge
- Jordan Prather of Corinth
- Genevieve Risner of Corinth
- Amanda Smith of Dry

Ridge

- Peyton Steinau of Crittenden
- Austin Williams of Crittenden

The event at Diddle Arena honored students for scoring at or above the average for college-bound seniors on one or more sections of the ACT or SAT this year.

In Kentucky, 2,909 seventh-graders — who initially scored in the 95th percentile on a grade-level achievement test — took the above-level assessments. More than 1,400 then qualified to be honored at the Kentucky Recognition Ceremony. Additionally, 152 were invited to the Grand Recognition Ceremony on Duke University's campus, celebrating those who earned scores equal to or better than 90 percent of college-bound seniors on the ACT or SAT.

Nationally, more than 77,000 seventh-graders tested, and 25,328 were invited to attend a state recognition event.

SPORTS SHORTS:

Sports physicals offered

Grant County schools have partnered with Dr. Sandra Utter and Dr. Troy Ashcraft of St. Elizabeth Physicians to offer sports physicals for all Grant County student athletes. Dr. Utter will see athletes from 9 a.m. to noon on July 9 and Dr. Ashcraft will see athletes from 9 a.m. to noon on July 11. The cost is $15 per athlete. For more information or to set up an appointment, call the doctor's office at 823-5441.

Nominations needed for Fifth District Ky Fish, Wildlife

A meeting to nominate candidates for the Fifth District representative on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission will be held at 7:30 p.m. on June 18 at the Boone County High School Auditorium in Florence.

The Fifth Wildlife District includes Boone, Bracken, Campbell, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, Harrison, Henry, Kenton, Owen, Pendleton, Robertson and Trimble counties.

Residents of the Fifth Wildlife District who, for the past two consecutive years, have either purchased a Kentucky hunting or fishing license or hunted or fished in Kentucky but were not required to purchase a license, may participate in the nomination process.

The names of up to five nominees will be chosen at this meeting and submitted to Governor Steve Beshear, who will appoint one nominee to a four-year term on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission, subject to state Senate confirmation. Doors will open at 6 p.m.

U.S. News selected the rankings through a three-step process evaluating each school:

- Step 1: Attains performance levels that exceed statistical expectations given the school’s relative level of student poverty, as measured by state accountability test scores for all the school’s students in the core subjects of reading and math.
- Step 2: Achieves proficiency cy rates on state tests for their least advantaged student groups (e.g., black, Hispanic and economically disadvantaged students) that exceed state averages.

- Step 3: Prepares its students for college, as measured by student participation in and performance on Advanced Placement (AP) exams or International Baccalaureate (IB) exams.

Schools with highest unrounded college readiness index values were numerically ranked from No. 1 to No. 500 and were the gold medal winners.

The next group of high schools with the highest unrounded college readiness indexes, which included Williamstown, were numerically ranked No. 501 through No. 2,008 and were the silver medal winners.

An additional 2,869 high schools that passed the first two steps in the methodology were awarded bronze medals and are listed alphabetically.

A bronze medal school either does not offer any AP or IB courses, or its college readiness index was less than the median of 16.3 needed to be ranked silver.

“For me, personally, it’s huge,” she said. “It makes me very proud of our students and our staff who work so hard to implement things to improve academic achievement. That’s not always easy.”

INVESTIGATION

Peebles said the KSP came to the jail that night and took possession of documents, videos and his employee’s interview notes and then launched their own investigation.

According to David Jones, public affairs officer for Post 6 in Dry Ridge, an investigation is on going. He declined further comment, but did say that no charges had been filed as this time.

Peebles also confirmed that following the KSP’s involvement, he was contacted by the FBI.

“I have spoken to the FBI, since this began and I was led to believe that there are no accusations that warrant or (would cause the FBI to be involved in this incident,” Peebles said.

Federal inmates were previously housed at the Grant County facility, but were removed in 2007 by U.S. Marshals following several federal lawsuits filed against the jail and the county including a $1.4 million lawsuit in 2005 by an 18-year-old Falmouth teen who was taken to the facility on a traffic violation and raped by inmates in 2003. The inmates were found guilty of the charges, as were three deputy jailers on charges of conspiracy, violating civil rights, falsifying records, aiding and abetting.

In 2008, a deputy jailer pleaded guilty to accepting a $5,000 bribe after he tried to sell a handcuff key to an inmate.

Because the federal government pays more than the state does to house prisoners, Peebles has been working to get federal prisoners back at the facility, as did former jailer Steve Kellam.

Peebles said he doesn’t believe these accusations will impact the facility’s ability to get the federal prisoners back.

“I don’t think this hampers our work to bring those prisoners back,” Peebles said. “I don’t believe anything happened that the federal government would be concerned about.”

Peebles said the Department of Justice will be at the facility in the next couple of months to conduct another routine audit.

In Bailey’s absence, Major Richard Clise, is handling his day-to-day duties.

WHAT GOES ON AT THE RELAY?

A lot of laughs, fun, tears and yes, even wacky contests. This year's event held on June 1 featured a watermelon eating contest and a new event, a cheese coney eating contest sponsored by Gold Star Chili in Dry Ridge. Right, Brian Melton checks his competitors to see if he's still in the running during the adult division. Photos submitted by Tim Mullins

CHANGES—

Within the next 30 days, the canteen will be closed and inmates will go back to ordering commissary items directly from a vendor. The items are then shipped to the jail.

“The canteen was something we wanted to try because we thought it could be a tool to change inmate behavior and be prosperous to the county but instead of changing behavior for the better it was for the worst,” Peeples said.

Other changes include:

- Closing the double doors at the end of facility’s main hallway, where Class D inmates, who are considered low-flight risk, are given more freedom to move around their area.

Closing the doors means the Class D prisoners cannot walk the main hallway.

- Changes to the Class D program, which include separation of male and female prisoners.

Peeples said there were issues with family, friends and the inmates themselves attempting to sneak contraband into the jail.

Because of that, he said that the facility now houses enough male Class D prisoners for two work crews for the state and one for the county. These prisoners are used to mow public property, as well as clean up at the parks and cemeteries.

Peeples said most of the Class D prisoners now at the facility are female.

“We’re basically attempting to split the males and females into two separate sections so there’s as little contact as possible,” Peeples said.

- Changes to the facility’s monitoring system will also allow the detention center’s administrative staff to be able to view the jail’s security cameras from home.

“We’ve added 25 new cameras, bringing us to a total of 122, since we took over last year,” Peeples said.

Peeples said his priority is training the staff and keeping the facility full of inmates, which means more revenue.

Upon taking over as jailer last year, Peeples began employing part-time deputies, which results in frequent turnover.

“We’re paying $10.50 per hour for our part-time employees and it’s difficult to get quality help at that rate when other jails are paying more, but it does save the county $300,000 to $400,000 per year,” Peeples said. “It’s inconvenient and a pain to us but as long as we can save money I don’t see any other option.”

Caregivers and family members of cancer survivors showed their support during the 2012 relay by offering 'hope' in the form of signs.

RELAY 4 LIFE

Carolyn Thomas Thompson, a member of the Grant County Relay For Life committee, hands out survivor medals during the opening ceremony.

Top, three local cancer survivors participate in the opening ceremonies. Right, Rebecca Ailstock and Irma Parks make their way around the track for the first lap.

Tom Beach and Hope Gatron listen to Felicity Spicer as she sings.

What Is the Relay For Life?

The Relay For Life is the signature fund-raising event for the American Cancer Society. Communities across the country hold the 12-hour events to raise money for research and programs of the American Cancer Society.

In Grant County, the Relay For Life is a time when cancer survivors, caregivers, family, neighbors, schools, churches and businesses unite in the fight. Teams hold fundraisers which culminate in a 12-hour event filled with games, prizes, music, entertainment, laughter and tears.

It is further provided that the property sold includes insurable improvements and the successful bidder at said sale shall, at bidder's own expense, carry fire and extended insurance coverage on said improvements from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, to the extent of the Court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price whichever is less, as a minimum, with a loss payable clause to the Commissioner of the Grant Circuit Court or the Plaintiff herein. Failure of the purchaser to effect such insurance shall not affect the validity of the sale or the purchaser's liability thereunder, but shall entitle, but not require, the Plaintiff, to effect said insurance and furnish the policy or evidence thereof to the Commissioner if it so desires, and the premium thereon or the proper portion thereof shall be charged to the purchaser as purchaser's costs.

The aforesaid property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, except the following:
a. All unpaid state, county and city real estate taxes for the year 2012;
b. Easements, restrictions, and stipulations of record;
c. Assessments for public improvements levied against the property;
d. Any facts which an inspection and/or accurate survey of the property may disclose.
For further information, see the Final Judgment and Order of Sale and pleadings of record in the Office of the Circuit Court of Grant County.
